(39) Medical Review Team

Medical Review Team (MRT) is an administrative program used to determine an applicant's eligibility for disability. The MRT consists of physicians and caseworkers that specialize in Medicaid eligibility determinations. These professionals make qualified decisions about whether new applicants meet the criteria for disability and establish medical reviews for current IHCP members. The MRT's decisions are based on medical findings that support pre-existing or current medical evidence that an applicant cannot perform substantive gainful employment (SGE).

With the implementation of the electronic MRT claims process, the 837P transaction and Web interChange can be used for electronic submission of MRT claims. The CMS-1500 can be used for submission of paper claims.
